pops off the screen. There’s always a bit of pride when Australia is used as a backdrop to horror and Remnant is certainly no exception.

slaying women. On top of that, our hero is still grieving the suicide of her friend, Sophie, while being unable to shake off the feeling that the latter’s brother Tom (Django Kulak) knows more about it than he lets on.

CINEMA AUSTRALIA ARTICLE

A bone-chilling trailer has just dropped for Mike Horan's new Australian horror, Remnant.

Remnant is written and directed by Horan and co-produced and co-edited by Horan, Andrew Davis and Mason Grady. The film stars Megan Bell alongside Isabelle Weiskopf, Django Kulak, Nicole Pritchard, Tsu Shan Chambers, Shaun Foley, Martin Ashley Jones, Remi Webster, James Coetzee and James Pantelis.

SCREEN SPACE REVIEW

"BUT FEW HAVE SO EFFECTIVELY ACHIEVED WHAT HORAN MANAGES, WHOSE LOW-BUDGET BUT LEGITIMATELY MENACING DESCENT INTO DREAM-LOGIC TERROR IS INFUSED WITH THE DNA OF THE ELEVATED GENRE FILMS THAT HAVE GONE BEFORE."
- SIMON FOSTER

MORE ON REMI

Remi has often been likened to a young Kate Winslet! The actor's emotional performances are fuelled by an unwavering compassion that is undoubtedly her strong suit. Remi continues her training through private coaching with Emily Joy and has worked with various top coaches, including Les Chantery, Lisa Robertson and Miranda Harcourt. The Actor is skilled in contemporary singing and ceramics, specialising in wheel-thrown pottery. With several projects in the works, Remi looks forward to building her on-screen repertoire.
